Specialised Communications Equipment Transport

The movement and installation of delicate equipment can involve extremely tight guidelines and also very precise areas in which to work.

With this in mind, we can offer a useful site survey service in order to evaluate each individual site. It ascertains the type of vehicle, equipment and manpower which might be required to facilitate the smooth installation or removal of any equipment, to the satisfaction of our customer.

Project Example

One recent project undertaken for the communication market was the de-installation of equipment from 38 sites across Europe, co-ordinating both the de-installation activities of the engineers and vehicle movements to collect the products from site. All equipment was crated and returned to the UK, where it remains in storage at our facility pending re-deployment.

We also utilise a stairwalker for the safe movement of expensive and heavy items.
